Session of Senate Is Called.

A Small Chance For The Treaties.

COMMITTEE IS FOR THE FOWLER CURRENCY BILL

REPORT BY STRICT PARTY VOTE

Senate Has More Than Enough Work to Keep It Busy—The Isthmian Canal Bill.

Washington, March 2—President Roosevelt today issued the following proclamation calling an extra session of the Senate:

"Whereas, public interests require that the Senate should convene in extraordinary session, therefore, I, Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States, do hereby proclaim and declare that an extraordinary occasion requires the Senate of the United States to convene at the capital in the city of Washington on the fifth day of March next at 12 o'clock noon, of which all persons who shall at that time be entitled to act as members of that body are hereby required to take notice.

"Given under my hand and the seal of the United States at Washington, the second day of March, in the year of our Lord, one thousand, nine hundred and three, and on the Independence of the United States the one hundred and twenty-seventh.

(Signed.)

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

"By The President.

"JOHN HAY,

"Secretary of State."

President Roosevelt's idea in calling the extra session at this time is to afford opportunity for newly elected Senators to reach Washington by the date set, March 5th. Although the purposes are not set forth in detail, the object is the ratification of the Panama canal and the Cuban reciprocity treaties.

Washington, March 2—Senators have today made up their minds that they will have to remain in extra session after the fourth of March in order to ratify the Panama Canal and the Cuban Reciprocity treaties, and they have made their plans accordingly. Executive sessions will be held tonight and tomorrow in a final effort to dispose of both treaties, but so long as Mr. Morgan retains his health and strength there is no hope of success. Mr. Morgan says he is willing to accept the full responsibility for the called session.

Washington, D. C., March 2—The Senate has more than enough work to keep it occupied during the last week of the session and do the best it may there will be much left undone when the gavel of the president pro tempore shall fall at the close of the final sitting at noon Wednesday.

In the present Congress, like most others, only about ten or twelve per cent of the bills introduced become laws, but it is also to be said that the record of bills introduced far exceeds that of any previous Congress.

Aside from the appropriation bills and conference reports preference will be given to the Aldrich bond deposit bill. Senator Aldrich expresses confidence that his bill will pass during the day, but some of the Democratic senators say that its passage tomorrow is out of the question because of the number of speeches to be made upon it and they contend if its passage shall be delayed beyond the day it cannot be gotten through the House.

There is also great anxiety to get action on the Philippine tariff bill and while there is also opposition to this measure, it is intimated that this antagonism might cease in case of a cessation of the efforts to pass the bond deposit bill, but Senator Aldrich is not disposed to yield to this kind of argument.

A final attempt will be made to press the Panama canal treaty to a conclusion in the hope that Senator Morgan may relent in his opposition and allow the treaty to be ratified rather than force an extra session of the senate. His friends say, however, that he is willing to accept the full responsibility for a called session.

Senators generally therefore, have given up all hope of avoiding the extra session, and now are concerned principally as to the time it shall begin and the length of time it shall occupy. Some of them are advising the president not to ask the body to reassemble before Monday, the 9th inst. while Senator Aldrich is urging that the call be issued for the 5th inst., the day after the dissolution of the present Congress.

The principal if not the only duty of the extra session will be the consideration of the Panama treaty and the Cuban reciprocity treaty.

CURRENCY BILL.

Washington, March 2—The House committee on banking and currency by a vote of 7 to 2—a strictly party vote—authorized a favorable report on the currency bill introduced by Representative Fowler, chairman of the committee.

IN THE HOUSE.

Washington, March 2—The House of Representatives held a four hours' session Sunday and put the District of Columbia appropriation bill through its last parliamentary stage in the face of the Democratic filibuster. The previous question on the conference re-

FLOOD

Is Causing Great Damage

The Ohio River is Now Rising Rapidly

AT PITTSBURG THE WATERS ARE FALLING.

GALE ON THE ENGLISH COAST

Carries Death and Disaster in Its Track—A Vessel Lost With All on Board.

Cincinnati, March 2—Local Forecast Official Bassler issued a danger line warning to the business people in the bottoms and all those affected by the 50 feet stage this morning. Bassler believes the Ohio river will reach that stage by Tuesday noon and continue rising for a couple of days.

Gallipolis, O., March 2—The Ohio river is 45 feet here and rising fast. The lowlands will be flooded and great damage done. A freight train of eight cars went through a trestle on the K. & M. road last night as a result of the high water in the Great Kanawha river.

Memphis, Tenn., March 2—The Mississippi river is one and two-tenths feet over the danger line here and is rising rapidly. The levees are greatly strained and water is covering the lowlands. Great damage is anticipated.

Fittsburg, Pa., March 2—The flood here is subsiding and indications are that it will fall below the danger line today. Twenty thousand men are idle as a result of the flood. The loss will exceed $100,000.

London, March 2—The gale which has swept the English and French coasts for a week past carrying death and disaster in its track continues unabated. A dispatch from Penzance, Cornwall, today states that an unknown bark foundered near there last night and all on board were lost with her.

FROM SKY

CAME A BOLT CHANGING THE WOMAN INTO ROCK.

Such is the Story That Comes from Mexico City—Fee Charged to See Statue.

Mexico City, Mex., March 2—News-papers here publish the following remarkable story, which is said to be authenticated by the church authorities in the town of Bagos in the state of Balisco. During a visit of pilgrims, who arrived from Leon Guanapate, at one of the churches a woman, under the influence of liquor, attempted to enter a shrine.

She was stopped at the door by one of the pilgrims and she began to swear so horribly that a bolt came from the sky and she was immediately converted into a rock statue. The reports add that the statue was then removed to the house of the parish priest and that the latter is exacting a fee of 50 cents from everybody who wants to see it. Many residents of Bagos claim to have seen the statue and recognized the woman who was so severely punished.

GERMANY STARTLED BY PRINCESS' ORGIES.

Berlin, March 2—The Mecklenburg-Schwerin scandal is now the leading topic of whispered conversation in all the centers of fashionable life. The Coquet of the Crown Princess of Saxony was a mild sensation compared with the present disclosures concerning the widowed Grand Duchess Anastasia, the mother of the young Grand Duke Frederick of Mecklenburg-Schwerin. For years her escapades while she was a wife, as well as when she became a widow, had been the theme of gossip at the German courts, but the common people were kept in the dark. Only those who had high connections heard whisperings of the wild orgies this royal woman indulged in with Princes and with young men who laid no claim to blue blood, just as her fancy dictated.

Now information comes from innumerable quarters, and what was surmise and rumor is substantiated by disclosures of fact. A Socialistic paper goes as far as to print a discussion on "Degenerates in Princely Courts," mentioning many incidents, but being careful to avoid mentioning names. In this discussion it says: "If Gotha's court almanac were not edited quietly, in compliance with the 'Code Napoleon,' which forbids to search for proofs of fatherhood, what a revolution would take place in the family tree garden!"

"Turf" Concerns.

Chicago, March 2—Action in regard to turf investment concerns may be taken at today's meeting of the stewards of the Western Jockey club if it is found that the St. Louis collapses have left any life in the schemes. It is generally admitted that it is next to impossible to keep them out of the betting ring as they can "cut in" under assumed names or hire people with reputations to act for them, but in any event entries from their stables will be thrown out.

JUDGE PARKER

Gaining Great Favor in the South and West as the Candidate of the Democracy.

New York, March 2—Lewis Nixon, former Tammany leader, who has just returned from a business trip through the West and South, said that he regarded Judge Parker as the ideal candidate of the Democracy in the next presidential campaign. Mr. Nixon said the West and South seemed very strong for Parker. He added:

"It is somewhat early to speak of candidates, but I have no hesitation in applauding the selection made by my Western and Southern friends. I cannot conceive a more ideal candidate for the Democratic ticket than is suggested by the farmer's son, who through no influence, save that of individual merit, rose from the farm to dignity and ornament the highest court of his state—a tribunal which is second to none in the world. The grand career of Chief Judge Parker speaks volumes of praise for our Democratic institutions which made it possible.

"He is a man of stainless character, of spotless reputation, above the breath of calumny, and removed from the slanders of enemies. His intellectuality commands respect, and his modesty and simplicity admiration. He is in the very prime of life, of commanding presence, and in robust health, and he has never run away from his party.

"If persuaded to accept the nomination, there is no one who can do more than Judge Parker to place the electoral vote of New York state in the Democratic column."

WOMAN

WITH A GUN PREVENTS A JAIL DELIVERY.

One Prisoner Escaped from Western Jail After Killing the Jailer, David Morrell.

Olympia, Wash., March 2—Christ Benson, a larceny prisoner in the county jail, last night killed Jailer David Morrell and escaped. He took the officer's revolver from him and shot him twice. Mr. Mills, the sheriff's wife, prevented a wholesale delivery by holding the prisoners at bay with a shot gun.

President's Letter.

Atlanta, Ga., March 2—In a letter to the editor of the Constitution, President Roosevelt praised facts and figures to justify his Southern appointments. He says he will not swerve from his course.

KNAPP

Displays Emotion in Jail

When Father of One of His Victims

CALLED ON THE STRANGLER ON SUNDAY.

PLEADED NOT GUILTY MONDAY.

Was Unconcerned, Cool and Spoke With a Smile on His Face—Had No Lawyer.

Hamilton, O., March 2—(Bulletin)—Alfred Knapp, who confessed to five murders, when arraigned today, pleaded not guilty.

After he had pleaded not guilty to-day Knapp was asked if he had an Attorney. He replied that he had not. The date of his preliminary hearing will not be decided upon till he secures an attorney. Knapp was unconcerned, cool and spoke with a smile on his face.

Hamilton, O., March 2—The first sign of weakening shown by Alfred Knapp, the strangler, was made Sunday afternoon, when the father of Emma Littleman, the eleven-year-old Cincinnati girl whose body was found in a lumber yard after she had been assaulted and strangled to death, called upon Knapp at the county jail. Mr. Littleman had a letter of introduction to Sheriff Bisdorf. Mr. Littleman sought an interview with Knapp and Deputy Sheriff Fred Bisdorf admitted the father of the murdered girl to Knapp's cell. Bisdorf said: "Here Knapp; I mean to make you acquainted with Mr. Littleman of Cincinnati." Knapp replied, "Littleman, Oh, yes, you are the father of Emma Littleman."

Then he dropped his eyes and looked steadfastly at the floor of his prison cell. "Look up," said Deputy Bisdorf, "do you know this man?" Knapp replied, "No. I never saw him in my life," and then addressing himself to Mr. Littleman, said: "I feel as sorry about this as you do, Mr. Littleman. You resemble very much the child, you have the color of her eyes, but the child's hair was lighter than yours. The girl favors you greatly." Littleman did not pursue the conversation any further and notified Deputy Bisdorf that the interview was at an end. As both were leaving Knapp's cell Knapp was noticed to wipe tears from his eyes and the expression on his face was one of emotion. It was the first time since Knapp's arrest that he had broken down and cried. Knapp has fully recovered from his stomach trouble and eats heartily of the prison food.

Prosecuting Attorney Gard and Mayor Bosch will today determine the day for holding his preliminary hearing. That he will be tried in Butler county seems a settled fact. Enough testimony is at hand to make a case against him.

Butler county jail now holds three men charged with murder, and in all probability a special grand jury will be called to dispose of the cases.

They are Wellner, accused of killing Johnny Matfield for his insurance money; Keeler, the self-confessed wife murderer, and Knapp.

It is the general opinion that Knapp has confessed all his crimes and it is now up to the courts to pass judgment.

Searching parties are still at work looking for the shoe box supposed to contain the body of Knapp's murdered wife. The Miami river has been exceedingly high and it is the opinion of many that the receding waters will give up their ghastly evidence, the one link that is now missing in the chain of evidence that will send Knapp to the chair. In conversation with Deputy Sheriff Fred Bisdorf Knapp related of his packing the body and gave the detailed account. He said: "I first put in some rag carpet, then I placed Hannah's body in the box and I had to bend her knees to do it, then I put some old rags on top and then nailed up the box." The fact that the box was so heavily weighted leads many to believe that it is still lodged near the scene of this crime. Judge Edgar Belden and Prosecuting Attorney Gard will meet today to consider the advisability of ordering a special grand jury. The next grand jury does not meet until May, and it is the urgent request of Sheriff Bisdorf that a special grand jury be called.

Cornell Epidemic.

Auburn, N. Y., March 2—Fred Wake, a freshman at Cornell University, died this morning, the second Auburn victim of typhoid epidemic. Another death is momentarily expected.

DOMESTIC

Trouble Caused Woman to Disfigure Husband, Kill Her Daughter, and Then Herself.

Columbus, Neb., March 2—Mary Anderson, wife of a wealthy farmer, Saturday night threw carbolic acid into her husband's face, blinding him, and forced her 10 year old daughter to drink a probably fatal dose of the acid and then committed suicide by drinking a large dose. Domestic trouble prompted the deed.

FENCING

Between General Leonard Wood and the Czar's Representatives at Washington.

Washington, March 2—Before an assembly made up of the diplomatic corps and their wives and daughters, General Leonard Wood and Count Cassin, the Russian ambassador, will tonight cross swords. Reviving interest in fencing has led to this meeting which will occur at the studio of Signor Pietro Lanzilli, captain of the Italian army, and a professional with the foils and broadswords. Every effort has been made to keep the matter a secret, but it has leaked out that a large number of guests will meet at the Italian Embassy for dinner, and then adjourn to the studio to watch the American and representative of the Czar try conclusions.

ARREST

OF MAN FOR BREAKING INTO A MISSOURI BANK.

The Burglars Got Away With About $10,000 in Cash and Also Valuable Securities.

Hartford, Conn., Mar. 2—Wm. Rudolph and George Collins, two of the three men who broke into and robbed the bank of Union, Mo., on the night of December 27, 1902, were arraigned yesterday in this city. Pinkerton detectives have been on trial of the men since the robbery. Wm. Rudolph, alias Wm. Anderson, known also as the "Missouri Kid," and Geo. Collins, alias Fred Lewis, with another man, robbed the bank of Union by breaking into the safe with nitro-glycerine. They aroused the town by the noise they made, but the man who stood guard terrorized all who attempted to show themselves and the robbers got away without being molested. The burglars got away with $10,000 cash and also about $150,000 in securities.

Of Many Saved by Brakeman

Who Quickly Turned a Switch

SENDING FLYING EXPRESS INTO ANOTHER TRAIN.

THREE ENGINES WERE WRECKED

But the Two Hundred Passengers on Pacific Express Were Saved—The Trainmen Leaped.

Big Springs, Neb., March 2—Through the coolness of a railroad brakeman, 200 lives were saved at this point Sunday, when the Union Pacific's Atlantic express, going at full speed, was thrown into the Overland limited train by the brakeman in order to save the passenger coaches of the Pacific express from being telescoped by the Atlantic. The Overland limited, westbound, stood on the siding here while the Pacific express was on the main line, both waiting for the coming of the Atlantic, scheduled to pass both trains at this point. When the Atlantic reached the yard limits and attempted to slow down, the air brakes refused to work and the heavy train drawn by two mogul engines, came on at full speed. Brakeman Senter took in the situation at a glance and, rushing to the switch, threw the oncoming train onto the sidetrack and into the locomotive of the Overland. The engineers and firemen leaped and saved themselves. All three locomotives were wrecked, but the 200 passengers on the Pacific express were saved.

KOREAN TWINS

Are to be Separated if Their Father's Wishes are Obeyed—X-Ray Examination Made.

Boston, March 2—Drs. Charles Green Cumston, W. A. Ralph and H. H. Hartung has made an X-ray examination of the Korean twins with a view to ascertaining if they could with safety be separated, their father desiring that it should be done if possible. Two photographs were taken, and they showed, according to Dr. Cumston, that the boys were perfectly healthy and that they have only in common the flesh and cartilage connection which unites them at the base of the breast bone. All the physicians expressed the opinion that they could be separated by a skillful surgeon, and in all probability with perfect success. Li Hang Shang, father of the boys, who is 18 years old, said he would probably have the operation performed here within a few days.

Saylor-Burnau.

Thomas Saylor, a well known B. & O. brakeman and Mrs. Carrie Burnau, daughter of Mr. Joel Littler, were married Monday morning. The ceremony took place in the office of the Probate Court at 10 o'clock, and was performed by Squire J. R. Atcherley. They have the best wishes of all their friends.

Opinion in Washington seems to be that while the convention of the Daughters of the Revolution was not especially successful as a love feast, it was the finest display of dress goods and millinery since the world's fair. We thus see that everything has its uses.

There was a very important piece of news in the papers the other morning. It came from Washington and related the fact that the war department has notified the governors of all the states in the union that it is prepared to supply them upon demand with a stock of "riot cartridges." Prosperity being almost sickeningly abundant and the trusts proclaiming that the compact organization of industry is a guarantee that it will remain for many years, is it not a little strange that the government, at this of all times, should have deemed it wise to shatter the precedents of more than a century and distribute to the governors of all the states a special "riot" cartridge?

The voting of Senator Nelson with the Democrats to consider the Littlefield bill will be accepted as conclusive testimony of the assertion that the three laws which represent the so-called presidential anti-trust program are without much efficacy. He is the author of the Section 6 in the law creating the department of commerce, to which is allotted the task of compiling information at the discretion of the President about corporations. This is the measure which has been belated by the partisan propaganda enforced upon the organs as hitting the bull's eye of the trust target. Mr. Nelson, true to his Norwegian honesty of mind, confesses that he recognizes the lameness of his measure, and he courageously desires to have passed the Littlefield bill, which aims at a vital spot in corporate monopoly.

Child Labor is Adult Waste. (New York World.)

Not to speak of its moral aspects, the industrial employment of children is the gravest material waste. Such trifling sums as the little toilers produce are gained at the expense of their mature usefulness, for it is the common finding of all investigations of the subject that hard work too early undertaken stunts the powers and shortens the lives of the victims. Child labor cuts the sapling before it can grow, gathers the fruit before it ripens.

LET THE GIRLS PROPOSE.

Chicago Woman Says That Men Lack the Necessary Nerve.

"If custom were swept aside and women might propose, there would be many more marriages and the president would not be scolding us," said Miss Catherine Coggin in a recent address to the women of the Knights of Columbus, says a Chicago dispatch to the Philadelphia Press. "I firmly believe that the convention which prevents a woman from selecting the man of her choice and making that selection known should be done away with. I can declare without fear of successful contradiction that there are hundreds of men here in Chicago who haven't the nerve to propose. Away with convention then. Let the women do it for them."

THE W. C. T. U.

Tuesday, Feb. 24, devotional exercises were opened by Mrs. Phillips, who read the lesson from the fourth chapter of Proverbs and ninth chapter of Corinthians. Following these exercises a responsive reading, entitled "Work Among the Indians," was led by Mrs. Harrington. This department was added to the W. C. T. U. work during a national convention held at Ft. Worth in 1901. Opening as mentioned on the leaflet was as follows:

Hymn—Ho, Reapers of Life's Harvest.

Sentence prayers by superintendents of departments.

Leader—Why should we especially try and reach the American Indians with the teachings of the W. C. T. U.?

Answer—I will read the words of our Savior as found in Matt. 28: 19-20.

Leader—Should we expect to find this work easy? Not always. We find in following the Master that He often sends His beloved workmen into hard places. 1st Cor. 4: 17.

What help are we promised in taking up this work? Christ's own promise is found in Matt. 11: 28-29-30.

The object of this department is to reach a large class of people who are scattered over the United States on Indian reservations, to teach them temperance and purity, and help them to resist temptation.

The first discoverers and explorers testify that the Indians on the Atlantic coast in the south and along the lakes received the first white people kindly, treating them as superior beings, but when they found their lands taken from them and themselves driven westward, they became hostile and tried to drive the white people away, and save their hunting grounds. This resulted in many Indian wars and they were driven to new fields, but in a few years the white people wanted more Indian lands and they were moved again. This has been occurring for nearly three hundred years.

At this time 21 states and 5 territories have Indian reservations, New York taking care of her own Indians.

For Indians in other states the government appropriated $10,000,000 last year, which was used as follows:

$2,500,000 treaty stipulations; $300,000 for schools; $300,000 for annual expenses; $1,500,000 for trust bonds and interest. The various church boards expended $200,000 yearly and other societies $15,000 yearly. Some of the obstacles to be overcome in this department of work are the inherited superstitions of former generations, etc. In closing Mrs. B. F. Parr read the burial Minisink, by H. V. Longfellow.

The president called the meeting to order for business.

After the reading and approval of minutes the secretary read several business communications. Mrs. Gabree was appointed superintendent of Sabbath Observance and Temperance Sunday School Work. On next Tuesday the devotional will be led by Mrs. Sisson. Reception of new members. Business meeting. The president requests the rescue work to bring or send their books to next Tuesday's meeting.

On last Thursday, by invitation, Mrs. Sisson went to Alexandria to speak at a parlor meeting held at the home of Mrs. Wells in the interest of rescue work, which resulted in the appointment of a superintendent and collectors to work for the Licking County Rescue Home.

GERMAN NAVY AND OUR OWN

A Comparison of the Kaiser's and Uncle Sam's Marine Forces.

Germany has twenty-two battleships in service where the United States has ten, says Harper's Weekly. She is building eight to our ten. She has four armored cruisers where we have two, but she is building only three where we are building nine. In protected cruisers she has sixteen to our fourteen and is building three to our six. In unprotected cruisers she has twenty to our six. In coast-defenders she has eleven to our fifteen—ours are of the monitor type—and is building no more, while we are constructing four. She has something like 140 torpedo boats to our thirty-two, but these vessels are already out of date, and neither country is building any more. She has thirty torpedo destroyers to our twenty. We have eight submarines to none for Germany. Altogether she has about 275 warships to our 140, but inasmuch as she has over 100 more torpedo boats than we have—vessels that are useless—the present disparagement between the navies of the two countries is not so great as the total figures would indicate.

One of the latest of the German battleships has just been launched. It represents the new type. It is not as large as the more recent of American battleships, but is compact and of the bulldog order. Its name is the Braunschweig. It is 358.62 feet long, 73.80 feet wide and 25.10 feet draft. It displaces 13,200 tons as against about 16,000 tons of the newer English and American battleships. It has a speed of eighteen knots an hour, which is about the average required of the largest vessels of this class. The new battleship carries 660 officers and men.

DEVICE TO AID ENGINEERS.

Signal Appliance to Prevent Disasters Like Westfield Wreck.

A Brooklyn electrical engineer has just patented a device that, it is asserted, will make impossible such a disaster as occurred recently at Westfield, N. J., says the New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Public Ledger and Times. It is a signal appliance that will work in connection with the present semaphore system and will display the signal on board the locomotive immediately before the engineer's eyes, so that it cannot be obscured in fog or darkness and if it is a danger signal will put on the air brakes and stop the train, even though the engineer be dead in his cab.

The signal works in three ways at the same time. It displays for a danger signal a red light, blows a whistle and puts on the air brakes simultaneously. For a precautionary signal it simply puts on a green light in front of the engineer's eyes. In order to make the system doubly sure the semaphore lights now in use may be left on the semaphores, so that there will be signals on the cab and alongside the track. A large railway system is considering the adoption of the invention.

MANHATTAN BRIDGE PLANS.

Novel Features in New East River Structure.

Gustave Lindenthal, commissioner of bridges, recently made public his plans for the steel towers of the Manhattan bridge, says the New York Commercial Advertiser. The plans differ radically from those generally followed in bridge building. Instead of towers constructed like those on the Williamsburg bridge, the Manhattan bridge will have four perpendicular columns of steel in each tower. The supposed advantage is that, instead of providing for expansion and contraction by carrying the cables over saddles at the top of the towers, the cables will be fixed at the top of the towers, and the entire tower will swing on a pivot base when the temperature alters the length of the steel.

On top of the towers will be pinnacles that will make the towers rise to the height of 360 feet above the water line. These pinnacles will hold globular lights. There will be four ornamental staircases leading from the tops of the anchorages to the street at four points, thus enabling passengers to reach the roadways without going back to the main entrances of the bridge.

Trains Deer for Nimrods

Michigan Farmer Thinks Two Will Make Sport for a Whole Season.

James Bosworth, an Alger county homesteader in Michigan, has devised a scheme which, he thinks, will prove profitable to him, says a Houghton special to the Chicago Tribune. He has purchased a pair of snowshoes, with the aid of which he hopes to capture a couple of young deer in the deep snow. He says he will thoroughly train them so that he can start them from a certain point, have them go over a runway and then return to the pen.

When the nimrods appear, for a consideration he will agree to give them a shot at a deer, station them at points along the runway and then go out to "scare up" the deer. One of the trained animals will soon appear, and the hunters will have their shot. He figures that the chances of the nimrods hitting the deer are about one in a thousand and that one deer will likely last through the season. To be prepared for emergency he will train two.

Flowers From the Battlefield.

A curious industry has just been begun by a Covent Garden seedsman in London—that of providing relatives of soldiers who fell in South Africa with seeds of flowering plants from the battlefields where the men met their death, says the African Review. Among the memorial plants that he hopes to have in England presently are the aloes and the mimosa.

THE LABOR PROBLEM

HOW SHALL THE CAUSE OF STRIKES BE REMOVED?

Horace Mann Analyzes the Important Declaration in the Report of the Industrial Commission—A Key to the Solution.

The problems of civilization, governmentally and industrially, are those of association and freedom. The earlier forms assumed were those of governmental despotism and industrial slavery. These forms have been changed, sometimes by the gradual and almost imperceptible process of evolution, and at other times when the natural process of evolution has been retarded by the opposition of those enjoying a monopoly of governmental or industrial position and abusing their privilege the changes have been so sudden as to be known as governmental revolution or industrial emancipation. The foundation of the American nation was a revolution to establish political equality, and our civil war was an industrial revolution to abolish the ownership of human beings as "property." The modern "labor movement" is to establish equality of economic opportunity or to abolish the ownership of the workingman's opportunity to work as "property," and as it progresses it assumes an ever increasing public importance.

Recognizing this fact, congress passed an act, approved by the president on June 18, 1893, "authorizing the appointment of a nonpartisan commission to collate information and to consider and recommend legislation to meet the problems presented by labor, agriculture and capital." This act defined the duties of the commission specifically "to investigate questions pertaining to immigration, to labor, to agriculture, to manufacturing and to business and to report to congress and to suggest such legislation as it may deem best upon these subjects," and also "that it shall furnish such information and suggest such laws as may be made a basis for uniform legislation by the various states of the Union in order to harmonize conflicting interests and to be equitable to the laborer, the employer, the producer and the consumer." The final report of this commission was submitted to congress in February, 1902, and in discussing the causes of strikes and lockouts in this report the commission says: "The fundamental causes of labor disputes lie deep in the present organization of society."

So long as the classes of employers and employees exist there will be strikes and lockouts. * * * Those two sentences contain a key to the solution of the "labor problem." Observe there are two "classes" named, with the assertion that as long as they exist "there will be strikes and lockouts." The inevitable conclusion is that in order to make an end to all strikes it will be necessary to remove the cause, which is, as stated, the "present organization of society" into these two "classes."

Granting that the above diagnosis of the case by the commission is the true one, it is evident from a further perusal of their report that they devoted much time and space to discussion largely irrelevant. For example, in discussing the economic effects of strikes the report says, "The most powerful indictment that can be brought against strikes is that which charges them with being economically wasteful and injurious to society." But evidently this is not an indictment against strikes at all, but an indictment of the present organization of society into "classes," the cause of strikes. To call it an indictment against strikes is like indicting the innocent purchaser of stolen goods and letting the thief go unpunished. Or, to use another illustration, if a man discovered that the water of a well contained typhoid germs and then used it for drinking purposes and bewailed the outbreak of fever in his family we would almost question his sanity, to say nothing of his sagacity. What opinion, then, must we hold concerning those who, having discovered the cause of a social disease, enlarge upon the seriousness of varied aspects of the malady instead of counseling the avoidance of the cause?

The "labor problem," then, is, How shall the cause of strikes be removed? Let us inquire first what are the "conflicting interests" that the legislation specified as a duty of the industrial commission to suggest is to "harmonize." We find the answer in this subdivision heading their report, "Profits and Wages." Over these is the irrepressible conflict between capital and labor—irrepressible until labor wins the day or until ownership of the opportunity to work as well as ownership of the worker has ceased to be a means of obtaining the worker's product for his subsistence. The discussion of this subject in the commission's report is very superficial. It says: "The problem of profits and wages must be considered under two separate and wholly distinct aspects. The first question has to do with the share of the product of industry going to labor as compared with the share going to owners of capital, land, monopolies, etc." It is evident that the larger the "share" going to labor as "wages" the smaller will be the "share" going to monopolists as "profits." Consequently when wages are a maximum profits will be zero, or to reward every one according to his labor means simply the abolition of "profits" and making all exchanges equivalent mutual services.

In order to have "free competition" it is necessary that both choice of occupation and opportunity to exchange should be open to every one. The present condition is one of almost universal monopoly. A man is free to choose his occupation provided he can get a job in that occupation. Trade unions attempt to combat this monopoly condition by limiting the number of persons entering a trade, whereas supply and demand and individual choice should be a natural limit to the number of persons following any occupation.

In confining the organization of the miners has been a recent development, and we see the result of nonorganization—wages fixed by the lowest possible limit of subsistence. On the other hand, owing to the monopoly of the coalfields in private ownership for profit at the expense of the general welfare, coal costs the consumer millions of dollars annually more than it would under public ownership.

There are various misapprehensions regarding the meaning of "public ownership." Those making profits out of the private monopoly of public utilities are opposed to the abolition of such monopoly for the same reason that the owners of chattel slaves half a century ago were opposed to the abolition of chattel slavery. In fact, the present stage of industrial development is described by Mr. Hadley in his "Economics" as that in which "property has taken the place of slavery as an economic force." This statement is not very clear, for slaves were "property" before the abolition of slavery. The statement really signifies that property in the opportunity to work (which is known as capital) has taken the place of property in the worker (or "slavery") "as an economic force"—that is, as a means of obtaining the product of the worker's industry at an average cost of his subsistence (which was the economic advantage to be derived from chattel slavery) and at the same time avoid any financial interest in the life of the worker. It is evident, therefore, that, as a means of obtaining something for nothing, property in the opportunity to work surpasses property in the worker.

So much for the existing industrial situation. It shows clearly that what are known as "profits" or "earnings of capital," and are so designated in the industrial commission's report, are identical with what were formerly known as the "profits" of slavery or the "earnings of slave labor." To increase wages, therefore, until there are no profits is what is meant by "public ownership of public utilities." This will make the economic return to every individual exactly measured by the service that he renders, and all economic differences will then be due to differences in individual ability and taste. This is the ideal of both ethics and economics—the goal desired by every honest man (and really every man desires to be honest, though many have not learned what constitutes honesty)—the realization of the Golden Rule and the royal law.

The evil in the trusts consists simply in the permission of private ownership of public property, which compels people to pay for that which really by natural right belongs to them, but which by legal right belongs to some private owner of public property. We build our streets and highways, and they are free to any one who wishes to use them, the only cost after the outlay for construction being cost of maintenance, whereas under private ownership of public property the people pay not only all cost of maintenance, but in addition an excess charge called "earnings of capital." All capital should be publicly owned just as the streets and highways, as well as all public buildings, schools, parks and in the more enlightened communities waterworks, lighting plants, street railways, steam railways, telegraph and telephone lines are now owned.

Nondividend paying capital is the solution of the "labor problem." A government that permits the extortion of unearned "profits" from the producers of wealth through the private ownership of public resources is criminally "paternalistic" toward this specially privileged class.

We have discovered now the answer to the question with which we at first stated the "labor problem." How shall the cause of strikes be removed? The industrial commission traced the "cause of strikes and lockouts"—one of the manifestations of the "labor problem"—to "classes," and we have discovered the origin of these "classes" in government "paternalism" toward one of them. Therefore the cessation of this "paternalism" will abolish the specially privileged class, or remove the cause of strikes. This cessation of "paternalism" means the end of dividend paying on account of the private ownership of public resources, and the returns of the last census show that the reward of labor will be more than doubled by such means. Moreover, the abolition of unjust methods of acquiring the products of industry will make it incumbent upon every individual to gain his living by the service he renders, and this will enormously reduce, if it does not entirely end, the "wasting" of social "substance in riotous living."

There are many problems involved in the transition from the present "paternalism" to the abolition of class privilege, but if the true end of all just government—to promote the general welfare and to establish justice—be kept constantly in mind, and, further, the still higher ideal—"Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself"—be his ways present the transition will not be difficult. The equality of economic opportunity, which is the goal of the "labor movement," is simply the abolition of the monopoly of public resources in private control or the cessation of dividends based thereon, with the law of "supply and demand" to regulate production unhampered by monopoly.—Horace Mann in Arena.

Johns Hopkins to Study Unions.

The faculty of Johns Hopkins university has recommended a course of study in trade unionism for the post-graduates and has asked the labor organizations to co-operate toward making this auxiliary instruction authoritative. The Baltimore typographical union has voted to assist the college.

Would Not Insure Him.

Insurance Companies would not insure the Rev. J. W. Yeisley because he had Kidney Trouble.

Mr. Yeisley was much discouraged till a friend recommended Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy and it cured him.

Mr. Yeisley writes: "My kidneys and liver were in bad condition and I was anxious for relief. I had tried many remedies without success. I bought a bottle of 'Favorite Remedy,' which effectively proved its merit. The best proof that it has completely cured me is my recent acceptance by four different life insurance companies."

The Rev. Mr. Yeisley is the pastor of the First Reformed Church of St. Paris, Ohio, and is as well the editor of the St. Paris Dispatch.

There is no question that Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the best and surest medicine in the world for diseases of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood, rheumatism, dyspepsia and chronic constipation, as well as the weaknesses peculiar to women. It quickly relieves and cures inability to hold urine and the necessity of getting up a number of times during the night and puts an end to that scalding pain when passing urine.

It is for sale by all druggists in the New 50 Cent Size and the regular $1.00 size bottles—less than a cent a dose. Sample bottle—enough for trial, free by mail.

KING COMPANY

WILL SUCCEED FIRM OF PROUT & KING.

In a Day or Two the Transfer Will be Made—Fred King Manager of the Store.

In a day or two the formal transfers of stock and other legal steps will be taken whereby the well known shoe firm of Prout & King will become the King Company. The King Company will be a partnership consisting of Mr. Fred King, as manager, and his mother, Mrs. Wilbur Dennis.

The name of King has been identified with the business interest of the city for a period of 73 years, during which time the same family has been associated in the retail shoe trade.

Joseph and Nathan King, great grandfather and grandfather of the present manager of the King Company established the business in 1830. It soon became one of the leading mercantile houses in the city, and during all the after years, by careful and judicious management, and a progressive policy, the firm maintained its position in the front rank.

The late O. G. King took charge of the business, which he managed successfully until his death some 12 years ago.

Soon after this Wm. L. Prout became a partner in the business and the firm has continued under the name of Prout & King.

In the retirement of Mr. Prout from busy mercantile life, one of the most successful careers as an active business man comes to a close. He started 43 years ago, when a boy, in the King store. By a strict attention to the details of the business, he made himself almost indispensable. In 1863 he accompanied Mr. King east to buy goods and after that time, his connection with the firm was that of advisory manager, assuming full control in 1892. The business continued to be successful, and today is one of the most prosperous in Newark.

Mr. Prout retires with a handsome competence, but better than all, the respect and esteem of all who know him, or have had any dealings with him. On account of his health which is not robust Mr. Prout will enjoy a well earned period of rest for an indefinite time.

Mr. Fred King is a young man of brains and business ability, and it almost goes without saying that his administration of the affairs of the King Company will be in most excellent hands.

The store room will be repared, and remodeled and other improvements made.

The force of clerks will remain intact, and the business will in all respects be conducted as in the past.

Did you solve yesterday's rebus? A new one appears on page 8 today.

SIX MILLS

Out of Thirty-three are Now Being Run by the American Sheet Steel Company—Ohio Plants.

Canal Dover, O., March 2—Ambrose Beard, division superintendent of the American Sheet Steel Company, with headquarters here, has resigned, to take effect April 1. There are five plants in this district, viz: Canal Dover, New Philadelphia, Dennison, Canton and Dresden, Ohio, with a total of 33 mills. During the last half of 1902 but 10 of these mills were operated, and now but six are working. Mr. Beard's resignation follows quickly upon other resignations of high officials with whom he was interested before the organization of the combine and all of which were asked for as a result of a policy of retrenchment and reduction of operating expenses.

The ax so far has struck only high salaried men, but other developments, among which is a cut in salary of all high officials, are expected. Mr. Beard is an example of the self-made man, rising from the position of scrap boy to the rung of the ladder from which he was so suddenly ousted. He expects to locate here in other business.

Today's rebus represents another prominent business house. Which one is it?

An old bachelor says that the most prolific source of a woman's worries is her inability to think of something to worry about.

ENJOYABLE

Was the Entertainment at Taylor Hall—Unique Program For Next Saturday Night.

The entertainment given in Taylor Hall Saturday night by the Ohio Wesleyan University Male Quartette assisted by Miss Mary Hester Crow, reader, was one of the most pleasing yet given in the Popular Saturday Night series. Of the four male quartettes which have given concerts in Taylor Hall this season the Mendelssohn, which opened the regular course, was unquestionably the best. But as a close second to them we would put the Ohio Wesleyans.

As much might be said of Miss Crow. She is not the equal of Katherine Ridgeway, but her work is of such a high order that she would rank as close second.

Both she and the quartet were repeatedly encored and the audience went away more than pleased with this, the eighteenth Popular Saturday Night given this season.

Next Saturday evening the entertainment will be a most unique one. Mr. Thos. R. Converse of Latonia, Kentucky, expert polyphonist, inimitable imitator of birds, animals and machinery, will give one of his amusing entertainments. Seats will be on sale all week at the Y. M. C. A.

MEN'S MEETING

Was Attended by Over 200 Sunday—Prof. Williams Spoke—Negro Educator March 8.

Two hundred and three men attended the Men's Meeting in Taylor Hall Sunday afternoon. The announcement that the O. W. U. Male quartet who gave the concert Saturday night, would sing at the meeting no doubt attracted some men, but it was Prof. Williams' last address in his series on the "Character of Jesus," we believe, that brought out most of them. Prof. Williams is always good, but his talk Sunday seemed to be the best he has yet given.

Whenever Prof. Williams is available, the Association can do no better than to secure him for the Men's Meeting.

Next Sunday the address will be given by Prof. E. W. B. Curry, Negro educator and orator, founder and president of the Curry School, Urbana, Ohio. Fuller announcement will be given later.

Newark A. O. U. W.

Golden Rod and Crescent lodges, A. O. U. W., will meet at their hall tonight for the purpose of receiving Past Grand Master Workman D. C. Herrin and his force of special deputies, who have taken up their headquarters here for March.

These men are from the various states and are well known workers in the fraternal field. They have established headquarters at 89 Hudson avenue, where members of A. O. U. W. and their friends will be welcome at all times. This is the beginning of an effort for the admission of 222 members on the first meeting in April.

EXTRA

port of the Alaskan homestead bill was ordered and the vote on its adoption will be taken when the House reconvenes at 11 o'clock today. That was the net result of the Sunday session. Although it was Sunday by the calendar it was, still Thursday, February 26, according to parliamentary fiction. The Democrats put a block in the legislative wheel at every opportunity and it required six roll calls to accomplish what was done Sunday. Large crowds watched the proceedings from the galleries.

The Democrats of the House have decided to prosecute their filibuster until Congress expires by limitation at noon March 4, and the remaining days of the session, therefore, promise to be largely repetitions of the three—that is all business will have to be transacted in the face of every obstacle which the minority can interpose. But even by the laborious process to which the majority will be put, it is believed ample time remains to get through the conference reports on the remaining five appropriation bills.

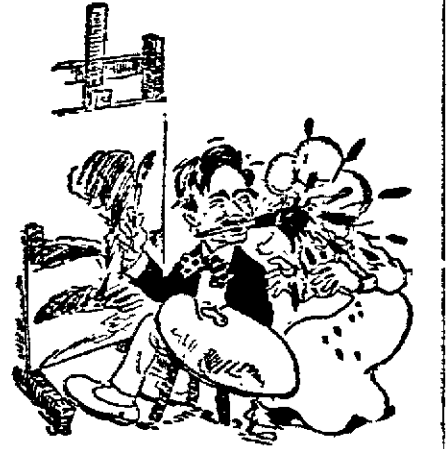

There is slim chance for much beyond so far as the House is concerned. Twenty-seven bills with Senate amendments are on the Speaker's table. One or two of these may get through, but the great majority are doomed to die where they are. The one bill in which the Republican leaders are particularly interested is the Aldrich financial bill, and if it comes over from the Senate a way will be found, probably through the operation of a special rule, to secure action on it.

Washington, March 2—When the House resumed its session at 11 o'clock today the Democratic filibuster was continued, and the Republicans were as determined as ever to transact business with dispatch. This is the continuation of the legislative day of Thursday, Feb. 26, when the filibuster began. Roll has been called 35 times and the reading clerks, overworked and hardly able to make themselves heard, have been relieved by substitutes. During the first session of this Congress, roll was called only 57 times in a session of seven months.

Washington, March 2—It is estimated that when the 57th Congress adjourns on Wednesday at noon, it will have appropriated during the two years of its existence, not less than two billion dollars. Despite the fact that much of this money has been set apart for much needed internal improvements, such as river and harbor works, public buildings, irrigation projects etc., and increase of the navy, the Democrats are ready to raise the charge of extravagance, claiming that the high tariff which brought the big revenue was a temptation to spend the money.

W. Murphy, Clerk of said Camp, No. 4727.

A letter received by Clerk E. W. Murphy from Head Clerk C. W. Hawes notifies him that Hon. E. E. ## WEDDING

Of Mr. J. Rollin Browne in Denver, Colo.—He Married Miss Esther Brown, Feb. 24.

Word has been received here by Mr. James M. Browne, the well known and popular grocer, that his son, Mr. J. Rollin Browne, had married. The happy event took place on Tuesday, February 24, at the home of the bride's mother in Denver, Colo., and the bride was Miss Esther Brown, a charming and popular young lady of that city. The bride and groom at once went to housekeeping in their cosy new home in Denver. The groom will be remembered in this city, where he had spent the greater portion of his life, and where he has many friends, as he left Newark about five years ago, and at that time was engaged in the bicycle business here with Mr. Harry J. Hoover. Since leaving Newark he has spent three years in Denver, where he has had charge of the picture and art department of the large Hamilton-Kendricks Stationery company of that city. The numerous friends of the groom in Newark wish him a fair and prosperous voyage on the matrimonial sea.

BANQUET

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Moore entertained the Chicago Stock company and the stage employees of the Auditorium at Kuster's on Saturday night after the conclusion of the performance. In recognition of the courtesy that had been shown Mr. Ernest Moore, Newark's young magician, who is one of the stars of the company. The members of the company occupied one of the rooms at Kuster's, and the stage employees were seated at tables in another of the rooms. In addition to the bounteous spread there were toasts and music and a general good time. PRESENTED BY EMPLOYEES TO
MR. E. E. EVANS.

Who For Four Years Has Been B. & O.
Roundhouse Foreman—Mr. Carney
Made Speech.

A four years' course as foreman of the B. & O. roundhouse was ended Saturday evening by Mr. E. E. Evans in a manner that will doubtless prove to have been one of the memorable episodes in the life of the resigning foreman.

At five o'clock the employees assembled in the round house office. Mr. Evans was brought in and D. P. Carney on behalf of the employees presented him with a handsome diamond ring. Mr. Carney in his presentation speech recalled the pleasant associations of four years, portrayed the genial character of Mr. Evans and, concluding amid cheers, wished him success wherever he may locate in the future. Mr. Evans thanked the employees for the ring and for the kindly feeling they had manifested. Mr. Evans will go to Chicago or Cincinnati. He has not yet determined where he will locate. Mr. F. C. Scott, formerly leading machinist in the round house, has been promoted and is now the foreman of the roundhouse in place of Mr. Evans.

M. Evans' Successor.

F. E. Scott has been appointed foreman of the round house at the B. & O. shops, this city, in place of E. E. Evans, recently resigned. Mr. Scott has been here for some time, holding a responsible position with the B. & O. as foreman of the drop pit, and has made many friends who will be glad to learn of his well merited promotion. Mr. Scott had been in the service of the Pan Handle for many years previous to taking service with the B. & O., and for some time was at Crestline and Wellsville.

Mr. McDonald has been in the service of the B. & O. for the past fifteen years, and is a brother of Conductor Tad McDonald. Elmer Baird the well known train dispatcher, will take Mr. McDonald's place.

OF ENGINEER SMITH UNDER THE
B. L. E. AUSPICES

For Three Miles the Passenger Train
Flew Along With Dead Man's Hand on Throttle.

The exact cause of Pan Handle engineer J. W. Smith's death near Black Lick Saturday morning has not been determined but it is known that for three miles the passengers of the second section of No. 5 rode that morning at a 50 mile an hour gait with a dead man's hand at the throttle. In addition to the facts concerning Mr. Smith published in Saturday's Advocate the following story from Coshocton is printed:

Smith and his fireman, Mike Coristan, occupied the cab together. They have the run from Pittsburgh to Columbus. No. 5 is due at Columbus about 2 o'clock in the morning and was being pushed to the topmost speed to make up lost time. The first intimation of anything wrong was when Black Lick station was reached, a "slow-up" station between here and Columbus.

The engine dashed ahead at the fast speed it had attained, and Coristan walked around to the other side of the cab to see why the engineer had failed to observe the orders. Smith sat on the seat box with his head out of the window and his hand still on the throttle. Coristan spoke to him, and receiving no response shook him. He was horrified to see the man topple over in his arms and discovered a gaping wound over his left eye. Smith was dead. He had died without a sound. The fireman stopped the train and search was made for the cause of the death.

He ran the train into Columbus and the body of Smith was returned to his old home in Dennison, where he leaves three grown sons, two daughters and a widow.

He was regarded as one of the safest engineers on the road between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati. The funeral took place Monday under the auspices of the Brotherhood of Engineers.

The cause of the death is a deep mystery. By many it is attributed to a mail crane, but officers of the road state that all mail cranes are withdrawn from the track at night. The generally accepted theory is that Smith was struck in the head by something protruding on a siding at Summit Station, three miles from the place where Coristan discovered that he was riding with a dead engineer.

At that same point in a similar manner, Engineer Fred Loveless was killed a year ago.

The passengers were horrified when they learned that a dead man's hand had guided their train, and two men, one of whom is said to have been a Cincinnati traveling man, alighted from the train, although it was 1 o'clock in the morning, and waited for the morning accommodation, rather than remain aboard the fated train.

The many friends of P. D. Barry, B. & O. yardmaster at New Castle Junction, will regret to learn that he is quite ill at his home in the Bleakley block. Mr. Barry has not been in the best of health for some time past, and it is feared that he will have pneumonia. Mr. Barry is one of the most popular railroaders employed on this division of the B. & O. and all his friends wish him a speedy recovery.—Pittsburgh Leader

The Men Talked Strike.

The following from the Pittsburgh Leader will be read with interest by the Newark friends of Mr. H. B. Brown.

When the $200 diamond ring was presented to H. B. Brown at New Castle Junction Thursday that gentleman was most appreciably surprised. Mr. Brown is master mechanic of the road and has charge of many men. At 12 o'clock all the men under him quit work and assembled about his office. All he could hear was strike talk and he found he was soon to have trouble. The men acted their part well and when he went to see what the trouble was about he was met by what de-supposed to be an angry crowd. Chief Clerk O. V. Lowman was selected as spokesman, and before the master mechanic could reach what was taking place he was presented with one of the finest pins that one could desire. The stud was a gift from the men under him, some of whom had worked with him for many years and had worked up in the business under his careful guidance. The money for the pin was raised among the men at New Castle Junction, Painesville and other outlying points in his territory, and from other engineers and firemen who have known him for many years and who recognized his good qualities. The gift was appreciated, as was evidenced by Mr. Brown's remarks, when he attempted to thank the donors.

A short time ago Mr. Brown tendered his resignation as master mechanic of the B. & O. to General Superintendent of Motor Power Casanave. When the men learned that he would probably leave them in a short time they decided to give him some slight token as a remembrance of the hard and easy times they have had together in making this division of the B. & O. one of the best of the entire system. His resignation, however, has not been accepted and probably will not. Superintendent Casanave recognized his great ability and the fact that his place would be hard to fill and has asked that he reconsider the matter. He has not yet given a definite answer and all who know him trust that he will continue in his old position. Mr. Brown has been with the B. & O. railroad for over 25 years and is known personally by nearly every man on his division.

President Ingalls of the Big Four, has not resigned, nor has he any intention of doing so. The story that he proposed to give up active railroad life as usual had its origin in Cincinnati, and is believed to have been sent out by some individual who seems anxious to have occasion to frequently put out this report.

The question of joint rates in Mississippi on all commodities has been settled by compromise with the representatives of all roads doing business in that state the Mississippi Railway Commission enacting the role of arbitrator.

The New York Central is to double track the New York and Harlem, and thus establish a new passenger and freight route between Albany and New York, via Boston and Albany tracks from Albany to Chatham, where connection will be made with the Harlem road.

B. & O. IMPROVEMENTS.

There was a cloud burst and the grocery store basement was partly flooded.

The grocerman sent the boy down to see if any damage had been done to the stock stored there.

15 minutes passed and the boy failed to return; 30 minutes and still no boy. Then the grocerman investigated.

He found the boy there all right, seated well above high water mark; a package of Uneeda Biscuit in his hand; his mouth full of the contents.

"What in the name of common sense have you been doing down here all this time?" inquired the grocerman.

The boy looked up with a good natured grin; gulped once or twice; finally gained control of his speech and replied:

"Geel! I ain't found a spoiled package of Uneeda Biscuit yet. I've opened and tried all of this big pile here, and this is the last package. They're just as good and fresh as ever!"

SLOW-HEALING SORES

Slow healing sores are unsightly, painful and dangerous. They are a constant care and source of anxiety and worry. Chronic, slow healing sores are frequently the after effects of some long debilitating sickness that leaves the constitution weakened and the blood in a polluted, run down condition, when a scratch, cut, simple boil or bruise, becomes a fearful looking ulcer that grows and spreads, eating deeper and deeper into the flesh in spite of everything that can be done to check its progress. Old people whose blood is below the standard and the circulation sluggish, are often tormented with face sores, and indolent, sickly looking ulcers upon the limbs that give them hardly a moment's rest from pain and worry.

Purify the Blood Heal the Sore.

Ordinary sores are liable to be cured by the use of the Swift Specific. It is too weak to throw off the germs and poisons, and no amount of external treatment will heal them, but they continue to grow worse and worse, and many times terminate in that most horrible of all human maladies, Cancer.

S. S. S. cures slow healing sores by purifying and invigorating the germs, laden, vitiated blood and purging the system of all corrupt matter, thus striking at the real cause and removing every hindrance to a rapid cure, and this is the only possible way to reach these deeply rooted, dangerous places. S. S. S. strengthens and tones up the circulation, and supplies rich, nutritious blood for the rebuilding of the constitution and healing the sores when you get rid of the old plague spot for all time.

If you have a slow healing, stubborn sore, write us about it, and our Physicians will advise you without charge. The Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.

CHESS CLUB

DELIGHTFULLY ENTERTAINED ON SATURDAY EVENING

By Mrs. E. R. Jackson at Her Home on East Locust Street—Farewell to Dr. D. E. Stephan.

Mrs. Eliza R. Jackson entertained in a most charming manner, on Saturday evening at her home on East Locust street, the members of the Newark Chess Club, and a few of their friends.

The occasion was one of especial interest as it was in the nature of a farewell to Dr. D. E. Stephan, who has been for a long time an honored and faithful member of the club. Dr. and Mrs. Stephan will in the near future leave for Pittsburg, where Dr. Stephan will be stationed as one of the B. & O. medical examiners.

The scheme of decorations was conceived by Mr. Amos H. Brice, and was unique and novel. The principal feature was the representation in caricature of various chess situations, the work being done in crayon sketches by Mr. George Ball and Misses Eva and Carrie Mosteller. These pictures, twelve in number, carried out in a faithful and artistic manner Mr. Brice's ingenious conception. Two instances will suffice to give an idea of the novel and appropriate designs. The "Discovered Check", an eminently successful strategic move in the game of chess, was represented by one of Miss Mosteller's drawings, showing a rustic youth's delighted surprise, on finding a check made payable to bearer.

Mr. Ball portrayed several "mates," his "help mate" being represented by a picture of a one legged man being assisted on his journey by his strong and hearty spouse.

Play began at 8 o'clock and continued for several hours. Before the serving of elegant refreshments, the assemblage was called to order by Mr. Cyrus Nevins, who introduced Mr. Amos H. Brice.

Mr. Brice in a stern and peremptory manner, proceeded to arraign Dr. D. E. Stephan and Rev. W. A. Berger for an alleged violation of one of the club's most stringent rules, which provides that a knowledge of the character, standing and chess ability of any new member be brought home to the knowledge of the club, before such new members should be received.

Both Dr. Stephan and Rev. Berger, without consulting the club, or giving any information as to character and ability, had introduced William Berger, Jr., aged 3 weeks, and Edwin Stephan, aged 8 months, expecting the club to accept them, if not as members, at least as tentative candidates for membership.

By special dispensation of the club, they agreed to receive them and condoned the offense of the violators of club discipline, and yet with one condition.

Each was presented with a souvenir spoon, which they were to hold in trust for the said Edwin Stephan and William Berger, Jr., until they were accepted and taken into full and active membership.

Mr. Brice's unique and witty presentation speech, was well received, and gained feeling responses from the recipients of the club's generous and kindly marks of esteem.

The chess players present were: T. M. Edmiston, Cyrus Nevins, Dr. J. H. McCahon, R. L. Taneyhill, Amos Brice, Joe Miller, W. A. Berger, Dan Murphy, Dr. and Mrs. D. E. Stephan, Bessie Glenn, Margaret and Emma Lisey, May Lumley, Warren Suter, Arthur Banton, Mrs. E. R. Jackson.

POSTMASTERS

For Three Licking County Towns and Others in Democratic Congressional Districts Agreed Upon by Hanna and Foraker.

Washington, March 2—Today or tomorrow President Roosevelt will send to the Senate the nominations for second terms of 16 Ohio Postmasters over whom Senators Hanna and Foraker have had considerable discussion of late. The terms of all the men have expired and it is intended to have their nominations confirmed before Congress adjourns on Wednesday. The offices in question are all located in cities situated in Democratic congressional districts, and it is for that reason that the places are filled by the Senators instead of by the local Congressmen, for during a Republican administration they constitute part of the Senatorial patronage. The list which has been agreed upon is as follows:

- Bluffton, Allen county, R. B. Day.
- Bucyrus, Crawford, Jos. E. Hall.
- Denison, Tuscarawas, W. A. Pittin.
- Hicksville, Defiance, A. M. Richards.
- Johnstown, Licking, Sherwood Blamer.
- Millersburg, Holmes, James W. Hull.
- Mineral Point, Tuscarawas, Elmer Jesse.
- Montpelier, Williams, J. C. Holloway.
- Pataaskala, Licking, Wm. S. Needham.

Four Banton, Mrs. E. R. Jackson. The non-combatants were Mrs. A. N. Banton, Mrs. J. H. McCahon, Mrs. Amelia Nevins, Miss Nellie Bliss, Miss Romaine Stanberry, and Mrs. Louise Birkey.

The entire affair was greatly enjoyed by those who partook of the bountiful hospitality of Mrs. Jackson, and the Newark Chess Club.

It is a short road that his no pitfalls in it.

THE WRIGHT MEDICAL CO. Columbus, Ohio.

Prospect, Marion, John J. Roberts. Spencerville, Allen, H. M. Ashton. Strasburg, Tuscarawas, Geo. D. Carver. Unionville, Tuscarawas, W. H. Stout.

Utica, Licking, Jacob O. Harris. Versailles, Darke, Aaron Brining. West Unity, Williams. William T. Ritan. Senators Hanna and Foraker reached an agreement to indorse the foregoing postmasters for reappointment on Sunday afternoon, and the list was immediately turned over to Postmaster General Payne. Mr. Payne took it to the White House today and it is more than likely the President will send the nominations to the Senate before the end of the day. The salaries range from $1,000 to $2,400, the most profitable being the Bucyrus office.

It was expected that the Senators would also agree on the postmasters at Antwerp, Paulding county; Clyde and Fremont, Sandusky county; Lima, Allen county and Napoleon, Henry county, but they failed to do so. There are complications which will have to be overcome before the successors of the incumbents, all of whom are candidates for reappointment, are decided upon.

SUMMIT STATION.

It is thought that the Pan Handle Passenger engineer, John Smith, who was killed on Saturday morning, met his death just west of Summit Station near the residence of W. S. Axline, as a man's cap, some glass and a piece of window was found there. It is also said that a train was standing on the West Summit siding, which contained a car loaded with posts, and that one of the posts projected over the car.

Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Brock, Mrs. F. M. Layton and Mrs. George Beam attended the funeral of their cousin, Mr. Jesse Kirk, in Columbus, on Friday. Mr. Kirk was well known here.

J. S. Axline attended the funeral of his nephew, August Hersher, in Columbus on Friday afternoon. Mr. Hersher was a brakeman employed by the Pan Handle Railway company, and met his death in Cincinnati. Two cars loaded with pig iron had been set in on the siding and the engine had gone in after them. From some unaccountable cause the cars started down the track. The dense fog kept the crew from seeing the approaching cars until it was too late.

and the conductor and Mr. Hulshizer, who were standing on the front end of the locomotive, were crushed between the engine and the cars. The conductor was instantly killed and Hulshizer lived until 3 o'clock on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Hulshizer was notified and left for Cincinnati at once, but only got as far as Xenia when she received a telegram announcing the death of her husband. She returned to Columbus, and the remains arrived in that city on Thursday evening at 6 o'clock. The funeral was held at the late home of the deceased, 200 West Second street on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and the interment was made in Green Lawn cemetery. The deceased leaves a wife and infant son, aged 14 months, besides a mother, brother, and other relatives and friends to mourn his untimely death. The deceased was aged 26 years, one month and nine days. He was born and raised in Columbus, and served with the Sixth United States cavalry in the Spanish-American war.

The condition of Uncle Peter Geiger remains unchanged. He says he wants to live long enough to assist in electing another Democratic President. Aunt Jane Simpson is slowly convalescing. She is now able to sit up a portion of the time. Mrs. Simpson, who is 94 years old, had the misfortune to fall some time ago, dislocating her hip and breaking her leg, but has about recovered from her injuries. This has been a remarkable case from the beginning, and has been watched with considerable interest by physicians.

Miss Lucy Malone is the guest of her father, Captain J. C. Malone, at his home in Granville. Miss Malone has been engaged in teaching in the public schools of Tacoma, Washington for the past five years, where she expects to return.

Story of the Cadi and the Citizen

One morning as the Cadi had opened court to dispense justice with as liberal a hand as if it didn't cost over 10 cents a pound a Citizen stepped forward and tearfully said:

"O thou son of wisdom, I want mine own and no more. A feller in this town owes me four plunks and refuses to settle up. He has even threatened to put a bead on me if I don't him again."

"My subjects must not treat one another thus," said the Cadi as his face grew stern. "He who contracts a just debt must pay it, even though he sells the shirt off his back. By what name is this shirker and reviler known?"

"He is called Green, and he is in the ice business, O Cadi."

"What! A man in the ice business refusing to pay his honest dues? It seems incredible. Have made no mistake about Mr. Green?"

"None whatever, O Cadi. He owes me $4, and he will not pay."

"Then I will make him eat a ton of his own ice, and it shall be honest weight at that! Then canst spread the news that I will do this. By the way, what is your name and business?"

"I am called Consolated, O Cadi, and I run a gas plant."

"And the feller owes you for gas consumed?"

"That is the indignity. See! Here is the bill. I know that you were a just man and would see me!"

"Be calm, citizen!—be calm!" roared the Cadi as he threw up his hands. "As I told you before, I am on this earth to see justice done, and when a gasman complains of an overman it is carrying things altogether too far. The plumber has over overcharged me, and the ice man has given me short weight, but the gasman has billed me $2 for the month my house was closed up tight as a drum. Go to, then man of gall—go to!"

Then the Cadi and the Citizen went home.

HE LIED,

Declares Albert Wade, on a Promise That He Would be Given a Pardon.

Toledo, March 2—Albert Wade, convicted of the murder of Miss Kate Sullivan, has recalled all former statements and confessions made by him regarding the murder and his connection with it, and said that he had "lied all the time, but would tell the truth if given a chance." He says he was not near the Sullivan house the night of the murder, and that the deed was committed by Ben Landis, Ben Wade and another man. He says he is deranged, and don't know what he has been saying.

He claims to have been duped by the authorities, who, he said, promised to secure him a pardon on condition that he confessed to the murder. He says the authorities threw him down.

He is particularly severe on his brother Ben, who is also locked up. He says Ben could have cleared him. Ben said: "His big mouth railroaded him into the electric chair," and then he laughed. Ben says he is ready for trial.

Ben is the very opposite of Al. He does not know fear, and is as shrewd as a fox. The jail officials take little stock in Al Wade's latest statement.

MRS NATION

Broke a Whiskey Bottle in a San Francisco Hotel and Was Locked Up in Jail.

San Francisco, March 2—Mrs. Carrie Nation spent last night in jail, charged with malicious mischief. She broke a bottle of whiskey in the Russ Hotel bar, and later had a row with her press agent.

It doesn't benefit a man much if he happens to be on the right road but headed the wrong way.

A Prominent Newark Firm.

Name of Firm .....

Name of Contestant .....

Age of Contestant .....

INSTRUCTIONS: After solving the rebus insert name of firm on top blank line, your own name and age on the lines below. Cut out this rebus on border lines and preserve it until nine others, which will appear between February 24 and March 6, are solved in a like manner. Take any single one of the ten firms pictured between February 24 and March 6 and write 100 words or less (no more than 100 words) about said firm. The 100 word composition may be a description of the store, a short story of the business firm, or in fact anything the writer chooses to say about any one of the firms portrayed in the rebuses, but the composition must not exceed 100 words in length. It may be as much less than 100 words as the contestant desires.

This contest is open to all boys and girls who are 15 years of age or under. The judges will consider a contestant 15 until he or she shall have passed his or her 16th birthday anniversary.

To the boy or girl whose solutions of the ten rebuses are nearest correct and whose 100 word composition is best the Advocate will give a prize of $5.00.

To the second best $3.

To the third best $2.

Solutions together with the compositions must be mailed or sent to the Advocate Rebus Editor not later than Saturday, March 14, at 7 p. m. Three competent judges will award the prizes.

First the rebuses must be correctly solved; then the judges in passing on the merits of the 100 words articles, will consider spelling, writing, grammar, punctuation, composition and neatness.

Judges will take contestant's age into consideration, so the younger children will have as good an opportunity to win the prizes as the older boys and girls.

Checks will be mailed to the prize winners as soon after March 14 as the judges can reach a decision.
